VOTE IS HEAVY AS USUAL TODAY

Indications This Afternoon Were
That About Three-Fourths Poiled
Was in.

ELECTION DAY IS QUIET ONE

Few Challenges Are Made, But Women Are Active About Polls—
Fewer Votes on Books.

The third local option election ever held in Rushville proper passed off quietly today with less challenging and fewer indications that an election of such vast interest was being held than ever before. The casual observer would not know what was taking place unless he chanced to come up to a polling place.

Excitement and concern over the result was "in the air," but it was suppressed, and there was a general hesitancy making predictions. The "wet" and "dry" leaders, however, were free to forecast that it should go their way. Few persons were placing the majority either way over one hundred and many very careful men were guessing that the majority would be below fifty.

As has always been found to be the case, the big fifth precinct—the factory precinct—held the upper hand. The "wets" were claiming the precinct and by that means they hoped to carry the city, but the "drys" were not conceding it to them by any means. There was admitted to be a bare possibility, however, that the precinct could go "wet" and still the "drys" would win a majority.

This contention was supported by the fact that the precinct voted "dry" by 85 votes two years ago and still the "drys" won by 98 votes, a margin of 13. It was thought the precinct would be close either way. On the other hand, in 1911 when the city went "wet" by 56 votes, the fifth was "dry" 30 votes.

At one o'clock today approximately 1203 votes had been cast at all six precincts. The poll books showed a possible vote of 1550, leaving something near 350 votes to be cast this afternoon. There was every reason to believe almost a full vote would be cast because the weather was good and it has always been the case in a local option election because of the intense interest which centers in it.

The women were about the polls today in large numbers serving sandwiches and coffee free to the voters and urging men to cast their ballots for a "dry" Rushville.

According to computations made at one o'clock, the poll books showed a little less than a hundred fewer votes this year than two years ago. This could not be accounted for. In the election two years ago 1498 votes were cast, whereas this year only 1550 names, or in the neighborhood of that number, appear on the poll books. Two years ago the poll books listed about 1650 voters.

The novelty of the women being at the polls this year was not so great as it was two years ago when it was a new feature of a "wet" and "dry" election. The women today, however, were out in just as large numbers and were just as earnest in their efforts to make the city go "dry." They did not suffer so many inconveniences today as two years ago because then the weather was very severe and in some precincts tents were put up to keep out the rain and cold wind.

The absence of "wet" workers at the polls today was commented upon by many. The "wets," it was said, did not seem so active as in

DIES WHILE ON WAY HOME

George Nicholas, Arlington Butcher,
Expires of Heart Disease

George Nicholas, 65 years old, of Moristown, who had been employed in a meat shop of Addison Brothers in Arlington for some time, died last evening about six o'clock while on the way home from work. Mr. Nicholas was not feeling well yesterday and became worse as he approached Morristown. He stopped in a house along the road and died before medical assistance could reach him. Death was due to heart disease. He was well known in the western part of the county and especially in Arlington. He is survived by his widow and three children.

ASK CONTRACTORS TO BE ENJOINED

Henry and Myrtle Conaway Would
Stop Work to be Done as Compromise on Forbes Road.

SAY THEY WOULD BE DAMAGED

Henry and Myrtle Conaway have filed injunction proceedings against Phil Wilk and Will Redman, doing business under the firm name of Wilk & Company, asking the court to prevent certain changes in the James Forbes road in Ripley township and were agreed upon in a compromise in a former suit involving the acceptance of the road by the county commissioners.

The plaintiffs allege that under the compromise the road contractors agree to cut four feet off a hill commonly known as "Conaway Hill" and to fill up a stretch of road 500 feet in length adjoining their premises. The plaintiffs allege that if the contractors are permitted to do this work their buildings and land will be greatly damaged and they ask that Wilk & Company be enjoined from doing the work. The plaintiffs are represented by Chauncey Duncan.

BOY WANTED OVER YEAR IS LOCATED

Ray Hamilton, Accused of Breaking
Into Grocery Store Here,
Found in Connersville.

FINISHES SENTENCE THERE

Ray Hamilton, wanted here for over a year, on a charge of breaking into a West Second street grocery, was located yesterday in Connersville by Sheriff Cavitt. The boy has been going under the name of Case and recently got into trouble in Connersville with some other boys for stealing chickens. It was through this that Sheriff Cavitt obtained a line on the boy. His sentence was up yesterday and Sheriff Cavitt went there after him. The officials there stated that they wanted Hamilton as a witness against the other boys and he will be held there until after tomorrow when he will be brought here to face the charge.

The other two boys connected with the robbery were Carl Jackson and another boy. The Jackson boy is out on a suspended sentence and the other boy is serving a term in the boys' school at Plainfield. Hamilton succeeded in eluding the officials and at first denied to Sheriff Cavitt that his name was Hamilton, but later confessed.

MORRIS GIVEN 1 TO 14 YEARS

Greensburg Youth's Sentence for Entering Mercer's House at Mil-
roy Suspended

IS ARRAIGNED HERE TODAY

Tells Judge Sparks He Was Intoxicated and Did Not Know That
He Did it.

Clifford "Tansy" Morris, of Greensburg, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of entering a house to commit larceny before Judge Sparks this morning and was sentenced to from one to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville. Morris was arrested late yesterday in Greensburg, charged with breaking into the home of W. S. Mercer in Milroy.

It was a strange story Morris told Judge Sparks and the court was frank in telling the boy that he had his doubts as to the truth of it. The sentence was suspended by the court pending good behavior. Morris gave his age as 19. So unreasonable was his story to the court that Judge Sparks told him he would investigate for himself and if he found out that Morris lied he would send him to prison without waiting for the officials at Jeffersonville to take the action.

Morris stated to the court that he did not remember entering the Mercer home or any of the events following. He admitted to the court that he was intoxicated and did not remember a thing from the time he left Roxie Fishback at the home of Chester Whiteman, one mile west of Milroy. When asked where he obtained the liquor, Morris stated that he found it in a shoe box near the school house in Greensburg as he was leaving there Sunday evening.

This sounded so unreasonable that he was asked if he did not pay someone to put it in the shoe box and leave it there for him. Morris denied this. He stated that he saw the box was at the side of the road, that he got out and opened it and found the booze. The bottle contained one pint of whiskey.

Morris said that he went to the Whiteman home after the girl about three-thirty o'clock Sunday afternoon and that they drove to Greensburg. When asked what they did in Greensburg, stated that they "just monkeyed around." He denied being at the Annex hotel in Greensburg and that the girl was also intoxicated. He said he did not remember entering or leaving the Mercer home but told the court that he walked all night and when morning came found himself in St. Paul. From St. Paul he went to Greensburg, catching a freight train.

Morris told the court that he had been working in a pool room in Greensburg. The court told him that if he believed he could not keep out of trouble by associating with his present companions he had better drop them, for the prison officials would keep a close watch on him.

The attempted robbery was connected and the blame placed on Morris by some letters found in an overcoat left in the buggy, which was found in front of the Mercer home be burglar from the house. The after Mercer had chased the would-be robbers, letters were addressed to Roy Layton. Layton operates a pool room in Greensburg and Morris has been employed by him. Layton loaned the overcoat to Morris Sunday.

The Red Men will meet in their wigwam at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Matters of importance will come before the Lodge.

The W. R. C. will not meet Wednesday as originally planned.

RECORDER HERE MADE NO ERROR

Collected "War" Tax on True Value
of Property Which Has Been Recorded in His Office.

MISTAKES HAVE BEEN MADE

Revenue Tax Collector Calls Attention to Error of Taxing Given Consideration.

County Recorder Brooks has had no trouble from persons making real estate transfers regarding the placing of "war" tax stamps upon the documents. In some counties the recorders are "in bad" because the correct amount of stamps have not been placed on deeds where the consideration was placed at one dollar. The rule to be followed is that the recorder must find out the true consideration or the true value and have the required amount of stamps placed on the document.

Fifty cents worth of stamps are required for each $100 of value in the real estate transfers. In many instances the amount is placed at $1 and other considerations. In cases of this kind Recorder Brooks requires the person filing the deed to state the exact amount of the consideration or the value of the property.

In several of the surrounding counties the recorders have not found the true value or the true amount of the transaction in which $1 is given as the amount. The internal revenue office has informed these recorders that they will have to find out the true value of these transactions and in many cases the recorders will likely have to make up some of the difference out of their own pockets as there is not much chance of collecting all of it from the people who recorded the deeds.

The recorder here has been on the safe side all the time and has insisted that he be told the value of the real estate, and if he is not told the true value, the blame is not placed on him. The mistake on the part of the county recorders was brought about on account of a misunderstanding of the law regarding the "war" tax stamps.

The law provides that the recorder shall be personally responsible for the collection of the right amount of money and for this reason, Mr. Brooks has been very particular about collecting the "war" tax.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

A marriage license was issued this morning to Edward C. Jackson, a farmer of Richland township and Cora Fields Heavilin.

The theater has been "dark" a little over a week.

TWO ARRESTED.

Jesse Smith and Gordon "Nig" Bennett were arrested this afternoon by the election sheriffs at the voting place in the rear of the Windsor hotel. Both were said to have been intoxicated and were creating a disturbance around the polls. They were taken to jail by the election sheriffs. A large crowd formed at the county jail and for a time excitement ran high.

BOARD TAKES NO ACTION

tures Estimates.

The school board has taken no definite action regarding the letting of contracts or fixtures for the new school building. Action was delayed because the large number of bids received. A large number of bidders were here yesterday and all the firms had displays for the inspection of the board.

TWO COLORED MEN FINED BY MAYOR

William Carter Gets $5 and Ten Days in Jail and Marshall Spurrier $1 and Costs.

BOTH OF THEM GO TO JAIL

William Carter drew a fine of $5 and costs and ten days in jail and Marshall Spurrier was given $1 and costs, by Mayor Bebout as a result of the disturbance Saturday night on the court house square. Both men were fined for public intoxication, and they went back to jail in default of payment.

It was Carter's second offense and Mayor Bebout let him have the additional penalty for this reason. The men were arraigned last night. An additional charge of carrying concealed weapons will likely be placed against Spurrier as soon as this sentence is served. A pair of knuckles were found in his possession when arrested.

URGES DEFENSE NOT TO WASTE TIME

Judge Anderson Seeks to Hasten
Election Conspiracy Trial— Defendants on Stand.

LOCAL ATTORNEY IN THE CASE

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—Judge A. B. Anderson in federal court today insisted that the defense in the Terre Haute election conspiracy corruption trial hasten its case, after Mayor Donn M. Roberts had consulted many times with Attorney A. O. Stanley, not "to waste so much time" talking to his client. George Ehrenardt, member of the Terre Haute board of works, and Dr. John E. Green, inspector of precinct A of the first ward, were the defendants who took the stand today.

Character witnesses for Ehrenardt and John Masselink testified that they bore good reputations. Fred McFall, on cross-examination, admitted he had heard a rumor that Ehrenardt had in some manner obtained $1,200 from his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Streeter, and after he had been forced to flee for Europe because of this his friends "fixed it for him."

John Kiplinger of Rushville appeared as attorney for William O'Donnell, saloon keeper defendant.

CARRANZA MAY TAKE CAPITAL

Mexican Situation Grows Increasingly Alarming Today With
New Development.

WASHINGTON IS ANXIOUS

Railroad Communication With Mexico City is Broken Off Again—
Lull in Fighting.

(By United Press.)

Washington, March 30.—The Mexican situation grew increasingly alarming today. Added to news that the Carranzistas seems certain to recapture Mexico city within a short time, information arrived that railroad communication with the capitol was broken off again.

Official Washington was most anxious over the Carranzista's growing strength. For some weeks Villa has been counted on to clarify the situation by crushing the "first chief." In the past few days the "first chief" has severely repulsed his rival.

One of the latest developments, it leaked out today, was the reply sent by the Carranza to American representations, rippling with defiance. The details were not known, but it was evident that not only Washington government heads but foreign diplomats here were gravely concerned.

Border conditions were somewhat threatening at Matamoras but were much more so at Nuevo Laredo. General Funston reported Villistas moving strongly on the latter place. The Carranza commander there announced he would fight. War department officials admitted field artillery might be ordered to Laredo, Texas to protect the property and lives of Americans in case the fighting became severe.

At Matamoras the lull does not promise to last long. Villa was believed to be delaying only while he brought up reinforcements to meet the enemy. It was reported he had 15 car loads of artillery on the way from Monterey.

PAIGE

"The Standard of Value and Quality"

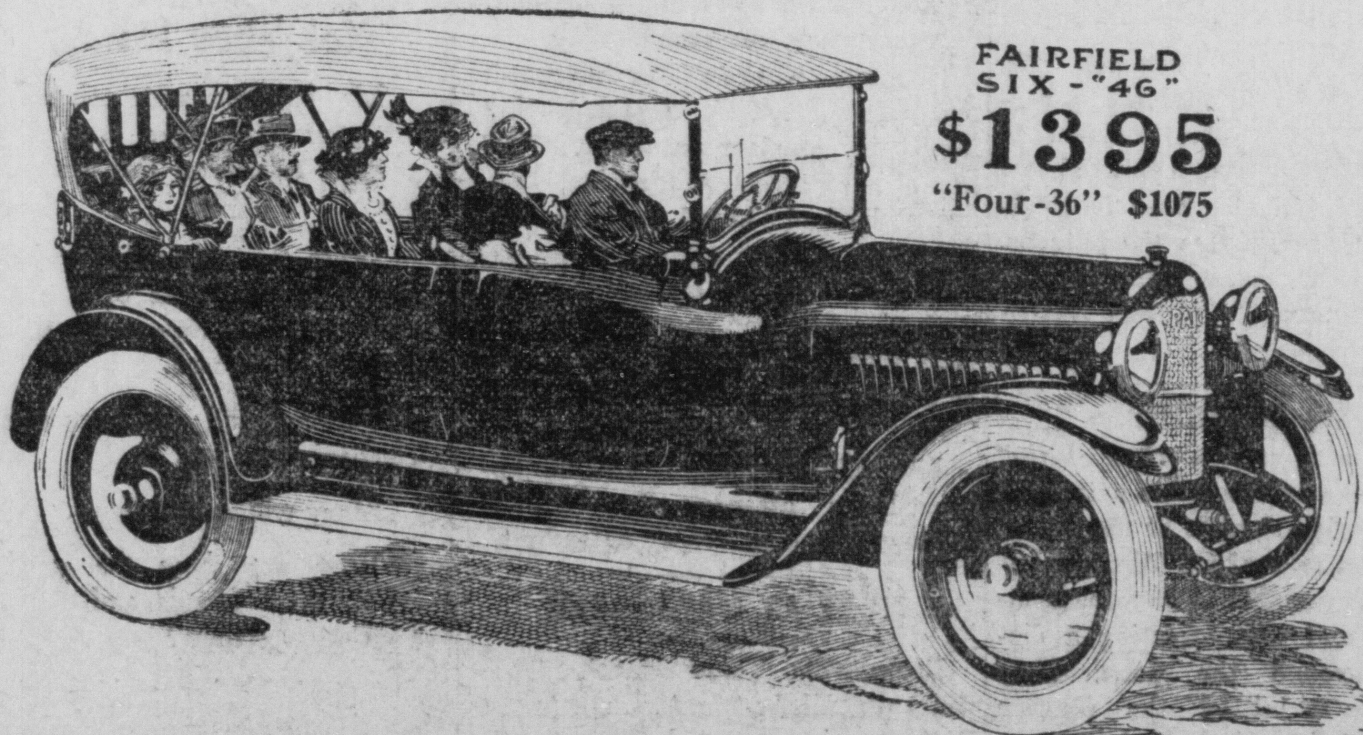

Pleasant Proofs of LEADERSHIP

WE find success a cheerful thing, pleasant to contemplate. This is the hour and day and year of Paige Leadership. In contemplation of it we feel only gratitude for the courage, brains and good sportsmanship of those who have competed with the Paige, splendidly though unsuccessfully. In proof of our claim of Paige Supremacy we have, we believe, only to point to a single, amazing and conclusive fact: To the best of our knowledge and belief, the Paige in actual sales from December to March has led all competitors in each and every one of the Automobile Shows. Paige cars in the astounding aggregate of one million dollars worth were sold at the New York and Chicago Shows alone. The Philadelphia, Detroit, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Baltimore Shows added another million to the amazing Paige sales.

The reason is fundamental, though the record is unique. The Automobile Shows have exhibited all American cars—alongside the Paige. The Automobile Shows have offered an open forum of paralleling comparison and intelligent, unbiased judgment. And that inevitable, popular verdict has brought victory, nation-wide supremacy, along with gratitude and well won content to the Paige. So, we call these Pleasant Proofs of Leadership and herein and hereby voice our very proper and very genuine appreciation to those discriminating judges—our fellow Americans.

FILES BRIEF IN HARVESTER CASE

Attorney General Gregory's Paper Defines Administration's Stand on Combinations

ONE DISTINCTION IS MADE

(By United Press.)

Washington, March 29.—Attorney General Gregory's brief in the Harvester trust case, awaited with tremendous interest because it was expected to define the present administration's working policy toward all combinations, was filed in supreme court today.

Probably the brief's most striking feature is the distinction it makes between "growth from within" and "growth through combination." In effect, Attorney General Gregory says that practically no limitation can be placed on an industrial institution's growth from within itself for that is a proper result of competition. It is reiterated that competition must be the law of trade.

FIVE MINUTES TO LEAVE BOAT

in Both Cases Vessels Try to Escape Under—Sea Wasps But Are Run Down.

London, March 30.—Upward of 138 lives were lost in the sinking by German submarines of the African liner Falaba and the British steamer Aguila bound from Liverpool for Lisbon. The Falaba was torpedoed in St. George's Channel.

An official list supplied at the offices of the Elder Dempster Steamship Company shows that so far as is known at present fifty-two first-class passengers thirty-four second-class passengers and forty-nine of the crew of the Falaba, were saved.

Four of the passengers and four of the crew are reported killed and sixty-one passengers and forty-three of the crew are missing.

The Aguila had a crew of forty-two and three passengers, and of these twenty-three of the crew and all the passengers were lost.

In both cases on sighting the submarine the captain tried to escape by putting on all speed possible, but he underwater craft overtook the steamers, showing that Germany now has some of its most modern submarines engaged in the blockade operations against England.

The captain of the Falaba, who was one of those lost, was given five minutes to get his passengers and crew into the boats, but, according to the survivors before this was possible a torpedo was fired, striking the engine room and causing a terrible explosion. Many persons were killed and the steamer sank in ten minutes.

Trawlers which happened to be in the vicinity rescued most of those who were saved; others got away in the boats which were ready for anchoring and which were quickly lowered when the order was given to abandon the ship.

Those who were still on the steamer when the explosion occurred were thrown into the sea, and it took the fishermen an hour or more to pick up the persons in the water who managed to keep themselves afloat.

The Aguila was attacked off the Pembroke-shire coast. The submarine which in this case was U-28, opened fire with her gun, shells from which killed a woman passenger, the chief engineer and two of her crew. Even after the crew had commenced to lower the boats, according to the story of the survivors, the Germans kept up their fire and some of the boats were riddled with bullets.

The captain of the trawler Ottilie, whom the commander of the submarine told of the sinking of the Aguila went to the rescue and picked up three boats containing nineteen of the crew. The fourth boat, which contained the other members of the crew could not be found, and it is presumed that she foundered. On their arrival at Fishguard several of the crew wore bandages, having been wounded by the fire of the submarine.

Another Dutch steamer, the Amstel, of 495 tons, has been blown up by a mine off Flamborough Head.

EARL MARLATT DELIVERS A LECTURE ON KIPLING.

At the guest meeting of the A. D. O. U. club in Connersville last Saturday evening, Earl Marlatt, of this city, English instructor in the high school, discussed Kipling, and he is highly praised in the Connersville Examiner, which says: Mrs. S. N. Hamilton, with a short but appropriate talk, welcomed the guests and introduced the speaker, Prof. Earl Marlatt, of Rushville, whose subject for the evening was "Rudyard Kipling, His Orientalism His Realism and His Religion," and the audience was charmed with his masterful handling of the subject. His friends, who have watched Earl grow to manhood and seen the unfolding of his splendid character and the rapid strides he has made for one still young in years, were startled at his vast capabilities and are predicting great things for him in future years. The men among the audience were delighted with his rendition of their favorite Kipling numbers, while the gentler half were almost won over to admiration of the author of the heretofore abhorred "Vampire," by Mr. Marlatt's interpretation of this same poem. With Mr. Marlatt for a guide they climbed to the heights of the spiritualistic Kipling, where before they had merely seen the materialistic side of the author, by the beautiful rendition of "Mother o' Mine." It is not an exaggeration at all to say that no lecturer has visited this city in recent years who has in any way eclipsed the efforts of this one of our own "boys," who is indeed an exponent of the theory of the influence of both heredity and environment. Mr. Marlatt's remarks were interpolated by the rendition of a group of Kipling songs, "Mother o' Mine," "On the Road to Mandalay," "Danny Deever" and "Recessional," the most exquisite music of which was sung by L. V. Hegwood, the well known tenor, whose trained voice was exceptionally good in the rendition of these selections.

Acts of Recent Legislature Are Explained by Expert, John A. Lapp

(This is the fourteenth of a series of articles explaining the new state laws, written for the United Press by John A. Lapp, director of the bureau of legislative information. Editor.)

Animal Diseases

The subject of animal diseases and their control received considerable attention at the recent session. This was due to the very great losses which have been suffered during the last few years from hog cholera, foot and mouth disease and other contagious animal diseases. Many bills were introduced concerning hog cholera and the testing and approval of serums for its prevention and for the control of other diseases.

Three laws were passed each of considerable importance. The first provides for the payment of damages caused by the outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in 1914. The state's share in this expense is approximately $125,000. The federal government paid an equal amount. No funds were available at the time of the epidemic and the state was required to assume the obligation. The state is now meeting its part of the damages out of the appropriation of $125,000. Payments are made upon the order of the government when certificates of appraisement made by the federal officers are presented to him by the state veterinarian.

The second law of great significance was the authorizing the state veterinarian to establish rules and regulations concerning the movement and transportation of animals, feed, that may carry disease and the blankets, sacks or other material movement of people to and from premises where diseases may exist and providing for the disinfection of premises or materials coming from any place where the contagious disease of domestic animals exists.

The state veterinarian is required to public rules and regulations and to post the same on the premises and also in the vicinity where the foot and mouth disease exists and publish the same in one or more newspapers. A copy is also filed with the county auditor who must publish the same in one or more newspapers in the county. Animals may be moved from an infected district only when approved by the state veterinarian by any animals moved are at all times under the control of the state veterinarian.

It is made unlawful for any person to offer any animals for sale or trade for food purposes showing physical symptoms of disease unless it has been inspected and passed by the state veterinarian or his assistant or by the federal inspectors. The state veterinarian is given the power to slaughter all domestic animals that have foot and mouth disease or glanders and destroy any feed or other materials that may distribute the contagion and the owners shall be reimbursed at a fair cash value to be determined by appraisement at this time.

To aid the state veterinarian the board of county commissioners of the county, after an appropriation has been made by the county council may appoint for a period designated by them a county veterinarian who must be a graduate of a veterinary college and licensed to practice veterinary medicine in the county. The county veterinarian is required to report outbreaks of disease and to make investigations of disease when requested by the state veterinarian. He receives five dollars a day for each day actually engaged in work.

A special fund of $50,000 per year is laid aside by the law as an emergency fund to be expended upon the order of the governor in a payment for slaughtered animals. The law makes a penalty of $25.00 to $250.00 or imprisonment for not more than sixty days or both fine and imprisonment for any person who violates the law or who violates any rules or regulations made in carrying it out.

The third law relates to hog cholera. It amends the act passed in 1913 so as to make more specific the provisions relating to infected hogs running at large or in highways or adjoining fields or other owners. It is made unlawful for any owner of hogs affected with hog cholera to allow them to run at large on public highway or in any fields or another or to expose other swine to the disease by allowing infected hogs to run in fields adjoining others owners in which hogs are confined or to have access to running water that may flow through other fields where swine are confined. Every owner is required to provide for the safe and proper confinement of hogs affected with hog cholera.

Hoosier History In Tabloid

(Prepared by the United Press from records in the State Library.)

Between 1843 and 1851 the state treasurer of Indiana acted as superintendent of schools. In 1851 a new constitution was adopted, and it provided for a state superintendent of public instruction. The state board of education also saw its birth. In 1873 the office of the county superintendent was created. He with one trustee of each township and the president of the school trustees of each town and city of the county compose the county board of education.

"Indiana has the unquestioned honor of being the first state in the union to incorporate the township unit into her education code."

Education in Indiana has made such rapid progress under the new system provided by the law of 1849 and the constitution of 1851 that today the illiteracy of the population between the ages of 10 and 20 is only six-tenths per cent and our state ranks among the first in the union as to schools.

Records in State Library.)

Indiana's public school system tottered along without adequate provision by law until 1849, when the legislature authorized a tax for the support of free schools. It required several years on the part of untiring teachers to bring a majority of the people to vote for this measure because the idea had sprung up that compulsory education was not in harmony with the principles of free and independent government. Also, many people thought that state schools would leave parents no choice in the education of their children. Up to that time the main method had been to establish seminaries, more or less supported by private enterprise. So great was the opposition to free schools that one member of the legislature exclaimed: "When I die I want my epitaph written, 'here lies an enemy to free schools.'"

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE OPENS

Opening Gun in 1915 Baseball Season is Fired When Minor League Gets Under Way

HOT STOVE LEAGUE DISBANDS

Usual Ceremonies Including Band Concerts and Parades Preceded Games—Many Predictions

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Mar. 30.—They're off in the Pacific Coast League.

The opening gun in the 1915 baseball season was fired today in three of the larger cities west of the Rockies when the Coast League, one of the larger minor league organizations, got under way. San Francisco, Los Angeles and Salt Lake were the cities where Hot Stove Leagues were disbanded and the fans came into their own.

Here's the way they lined up; Oakland at San Francisco; Portland at Los Angeles; Vernon at Salt Lake. The usual ceremonies, including brass bands, parades and speeches, preceded the games. And then the fans and fanettes settled down, so far as the Pacific Coast is concerned, to eight months of baseball.

The same old brand of predictions were voiced by the managers of the several clubs.

"Every man on my team is a champion," said "Happy" Hogan, manager of the Vernon Tigers, "and I can't see how they can keep us from annexing the pennant."

The five other managers in the league were to the front with similar statements, but unbiased experts have declared the San Francisco club to be the greatest aggregation of players ever assembled in a minor league. This team was constructed by Harry Wolverton, former manager of the New York Highlanders. Portland and Los Angeles also loom up as contenders.

Several changes have occurred in the Pacific Coast League since the close of the 1914 season. Cal Ewing and Frank Ish, two of the best known baseball men in the country, disposed of their holdings in the San Francisco club to Henry Berry, formerly owner of the Los Angeles club to John Powers, son of Alderman Powers of Chicago. After several disastrous seasons, the Sacramento franchise was sold to Salt Lake, one of the best baseball cities in the west. Cliff Blankenship is manager of the "Mormon" team.

BOAT BUILDERS ARE VERY ACTIVE

Great Season is Predicted From Commercial and Social Standpoint in New York City.

RIVER EXCURSIONS TO START

New Sight For Tourist Will be Large

Number of Foreign Ships Anchored Here.

BY CARLTON TEN EYCK.
(Written for United Press.)

New York, March 30.—"Sail, ho!" and also the new twentieth century "Gasoline, ho!" are the hails of sea, bay and river for which ears of thousands are impatiently waiting today. With the advent of spring the call of the water is being answered by sailing and boating enthusiasts of nearby waters and also the whole North Atlantic seaboard.

Activities in boat yards, basins, rivers and creek show preparations for summer cruiser, racing, coasting service, excursion trips and houseboat parties. The whole water front is putting on its usual spring garb. Even the river pirates are evincing the toxin of spring with renewed raids, despite the espionage of the harbor police.

Wherever a boat was moored or drawn ashore last fall, there is not a bustle of action. New sails are being bent, new rigging and engines installed, fresh paint slathered and woodwork and hulls caulked, painted and varnished.

The fishing fleets, commercial and for amateur nimrods, are actively engaged in fitting out. The dollar-a-Sunday fishing trips will soon be in full blast. Sunday excursion boats, up the Hudson, on the Sound and out to sea are on the brink of public solicitation.

This is going to be a gasoline year, according to the outlook today. Motor boat builders are overwhelmed with work finishing orders placed last year. Some speedy races on the Hudson, are already scheduled in the near future. The bon ton boat houses there and yacht clubs are also in the throes of seasonal preparation. Restaurants and road houses which seek the water patronage are being refurbished for another season. College crews are taking the water in their shells.

Excursion boats between here and Albany, Boston, Providence, Atlantic City and the ocean resorts are planning early despatchment of their regular summer schedules.

A new sight for tourists which promise much business for boatmen and ferrists this summer from tourists is the fleet of foreign ships interned near here, mostly at Hoboken. While as visitor, except the favored few with east-iron credentials, are denied a foot abroad the tied-up boats, they are a mecca of tourist pilgrimage nevertheless. The leviathan Vaterland is the "star" attraction. If the war holds out in Europe river boatmen are looking forward to a prosperous season.

An interesting development of the war, too, is the prospect of a summer excursion rate war. Stagnation and tying up of both passenger and freight shipping by the war has disrupted normal traffic conditions. Owners of some of the ocean going craft are turning their attention to the coastwise trade, while the coasters, meeting new competition, are reported to be threatening invasion of the excursion field.

Incidentally "dollar" excursions to Atlantic City are already being advertised. Altogether it looks like a most enjoyable and maybe cheaper summer for devotees of the water.

Railroad station officials here are wondering if a "stork room" must be the latest convenience to be given the traveling public. A recent "epidemic" of births on trains entering the city, and even in the big terminals themselves, has brought up the question of providing for the hasty newcomers. Several mothers have given birth recently to children on trains a few miles from the city. Within the last fortnight two children were ushered into the world in vast marble waiting rooms, soon after their mothers arrived in the stations. A special room for such cases. A special room to care for such cases is said to be under consideration by officials of one of the largest terminals here.

A "smoke squad" in New York's most prideful addition to its fire department and all New York is watching its baptism of fire. The squad consists of a company especially equipped to fight fire where unusually dense smoke or fumes prevail. They are equipped with oxygen helmets and air-conveying contrivances, with pulmotors for revival of victims. The company is located in the more congested lower section of the city, is composed of veteran fire fighters and is given the post of honor at the hardest fire with the doubtful privilege of being the first to enter burning buildings after the salvage squads.

DICK WILSON HAS GOOD PROSPECTS

Rushville Trainer Will Move to State

Fair Grounds With String in Few Weeks.

HORSES IN HIS STABLE

The sport writer on the Indianapolis Star yesterday said in his column about prospects of Indiana stables since the training season is about to open:

The Rushville train, Dick Wilson, is busy adding new ones to the list that he will train at the Indiana State Fair Grounds this spring, one of the best of the recent additions being the trotter, Star Tramp III, 2:18, by The Tramp, that a patron of Wilson's bid off at the recent Cambridge City sale. Star Tramp was trained last year by Harry Jones at Rushville and worked three different miles around 2:10 and Jones says that he is confident that he will trot in 2:08 or better this season. He was not trained in his 4-year-old form, but as a 3-year-old, displayed plenty of class in his races over the half-mile track, where he raced to his mark. Black Ball, 2:12, a pacer, by The Patchen Boy III, 2:10, owned at Portland, Ind., is to become a member of the Wilson stable, and comes pretty highly recommended. He was raced a few times last year over the half-mile tracks and paced to his record in a winning race over the Fort Wayne half-mile track. He is an oily-going pacer, has a lot of the whizz that is so necessary in getting the long end of the purses, and seems to have all of the qualifications of a classy pacer. Wilson will move to the local track within a couple of weeks.

ACTRESS GIVEN HONORS

Miss Christine Norman Complimented by Dramatic Critic.

Hector Fuller, dramatic critic of the Indianapolis Star, gives Miss Christine Norman, niece of Mrs. Will E. Havens of this city, credit for the honors in the premiere of Oliver Morosco's production, "The Lady We Love" which opened for a week's run at the Murat theater in Indianapolis last night. Miss Norman has visited here often. Mr. Fuller says:

The acting honors of the piece belong by right to Miss Christine Norman as Schweister. She is an artist of great natural ability and force of character, and her work is full of wholesomeness, so that what she does impresses itself as quite genuine, and easy to believe, even if the author has put in some rather impossible situations.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back Hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Manager Davidson Denies Report That Star Third Sacker Will Not Play With Locals.

George Rohe, former Chicago White Sox player, will play third base for Rushville this season despite all reports to the contrary. Word was received this morning from Manager Davidson that Rohe would positively play with Rushville. The story got spread around Sunday because of a piece in the Enquirer that he would not play here. The story was that he would play with Weihe's All-Pros.

According to Manager Davidson Rohe will play with the All-Pros on April 3 and 4 and on April 7 and 8 when that club plays the Pittsburgh Federals. They have advertised him for a drawing card and after these games he will play with Rushville. Rushville's first game will be April 11 at Hamilton where the team will take on the Krebs.

TWINE FEAREDDealers Call Farmers Attention to
Fact They Had Better Get it
While They Can.

CAUSE FOR THE LACK OF IT

Raw Material All Comes From Mexico and Carranza Army Causes
Shipments to Cease.

Dealers are calling the attention of farmers to the fact that they had better get in their supply of binder twine if they do not care to come up short during the harvest. Metropolitan newspapers have pointed out in editorials that it is doubtful if the country at large understands the seriousness of the shortage of binder twine.

Only last Friday the Indianapolis News, in an editorial, called attention to the condition. The United States department of agriculture reports that between January 1 and

February 28, 67,489 bales, of 350 pounds each, were brought in as compared with 156,659 bales in the same period last year and 111,654 bales in 1913. It is seen the falling off is immense.

A large portion of the raw material which enters into the manufacture of this important article comes from Yucatan state, Mexico. The interference of the Carranza army has caused shipments of sisal to be discontinued, and the situation is so grave as to make imminent the closing of many large manufacturing plants in the United States, including those of the International Harvester Company. The state department for several months has realized the dangerous possibilities, and has brought diplomatic pressure to bear on the Carranza leaders. Late dispatches indicate that the trouble has been partly overcome. However, it is possible that this year's grain harvest in the United States will be seriously affected.

In normal years about 200,000,000 pounds of binder twine are required in harvesting the grain, corn and flax crops. From two-thirds to three-fourths of this is made from sisal fiber, practically all of which is produced in Yucatan, and exported from Progreso. In 1912 a shortage was threatened, and the price rose from 7 to 12 cents a pound. Then it was only a question of price. Now American manufacturers are willing to pay practically any price. It is said that fifty-one decrees relative to sisal have been issued by various governments in Yucatan, and that lately three export duties have been levied. The continued political disturbances in Mexico caused shortage in fiber, but conditions now are much more serious. High prices will be paid if shipments are permitted.

Weeks ago it was represented to the state department that the year's crop would be endangered unless heavy shipments of sisal continued to April 1. Instead of increases there have been decreases. The stock in storage is extremely low. It is said that prices for future contracts must take into consideration the taxes imposed in Yucatan. The government expects to send a warship to Progreso with sufficient gold to pay for such sisal stocks as are ready for shipment, this amount to be supplied, of course, by American manufacturing plants. The American government is interested in the sisal shortage because of the danger to crops. Unless there is plenty of binder twine, some harvesting may have to be done by hand, and this undoubtedly would cut down the yield, which, it is expected, will be the greatest in the history of the country.

Washington, March 29.—Chairman Walsh incorporated in the records Col. Roosevelt's reply to a request that Roosevelt appear before the senate ship lobby investigating committee.

In one paragraph Col. Roosevelt says:

"My statement was literally and exactly correct. President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo have pushed the ship purchase bill to the utmost of their ability. . . . Their action was in the interests of foreign corporations owning the interned ships. If it had not been the ships would have been exempted from the operations of the act.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

A few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur brings back its vigor, color, gloss and thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

SHIPPER'S SIDE IS PRESENTED

Oppose Rate Increase Before Interstate Commerce Commissioner
Daniels in Chicago

CONTRAST TO EASTERN LINES

Opening Statement Shows Line on Which Defense Will be Made.

Thorne Makes Address

(By United Press.)

Chicago, March 30.—Clifford Thorne, railroad commissioner of Iowa and president of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, today opened the evidence on behalf of the shippers and the public interests which he represents at the Western rate hearing before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Daniels. In part he said:

"During the past four weeks this Commission has heard the testimony offered by the officials of western railroads, in favor of an increase in their transportation charges, aggregating millions of dollars annually.

"We will now present to you the evidence on behalf of the producers, shippers, and consumers of this western part of the nation.

"Our object is not to make a general onslaught upon the credit of these western railroads. The result of our efforts will be rather to help to establish the soundness and strength of their credit.

"As indicating conditions in the territory involved only the testimony of the Presidents of the Chicago Great Western Railroad, the Missouri Pacific Railway, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway was introduced. Nothing further need be said. This commission and the public knows whether they represented typical lines or weakling. This procedure is in marked contrast to that pursued by the Eastern Railroads, where the chief executives of the representative lines testified.

"We will show you that three-fourths of the traffic in this territory is being handled by companies that are earning above all operating expenses, and all interest on bonds and debt, from six to sixteen percent on all of their capital stock outstanding in the hands of the public.

"Heretofore the railroads have been far better equipped than the shippers in cases involving rates; but in the present case the Commissions of sixteen western states, in compliance with state laws, have secured the services of an eminent corps of expert accountants and statisticians, and are looking after the interests of the public.

"Joined with the commissions are the representatives of upwards of 300,000 manufacturers, merchants, grain dealers, live stock dealers, and other producers and consumers, scattered throughout the territory.

"We will demonstrate to you some mistakes in the figures offered by the railroads. We do not call them misrepresentations for all of us are liable to err at times. It is not necessary for us to parade glaring, sensational incidents of high finance or questionable acts. It is a cold blooded business proposition. The famous Gould printing press scandal, where they made Erie stock over night, and incident that will probably be famous for all time, only involved some $23,000,000. The present movement for increased freight, and passenger rates involves several times that sum of money, not just at one time, but

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Prevent Falling Hair and End Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

every year, now and in the future, for this and future generations to pay.

"The impression has been given that railroads have not been able to maintain their properties during recent years; that they have been compelled to retrench so severely that the public has been injured, as well as to some railroads, but we will show you it is absolutely untrue as to western railroads as a whole. As in all business, there are temporary periods of depression when the railroads as a whole, including both the strong and the weak lines, are compelled to retrench in their expenses for a time. It will be conclusively proven to you that these western carriers expended in 1914 in maintaining their properties $2,800 per mile of line, which was greater than in any other year in their history.

"It will be proved that the railroads in western territory as a whole have actually expended in maintaining their properties during the past five years an average of $50,000,000 a year more than for any preceding five year period since the first railroad was built in this territory.

"It will be shown to you that the decline in the percentage of operating income on property investment, upon which the carriers are relying so strongly, results from a change in the system of accounting, and not from any operating condition.

DON'T USE SOAP ON YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Gaphic Description of Life in the Trenches By a College Professor

(By United Press.)

Huntington, Ind., Mar. 30.—A description of life in the trenches of the French army, as experienced and written by a polished college professor serving as a corporal, has come to Mrs. J. R. Malott of Huntington in the form of a letter written by the Frenchman to his American wife in Paris. The letter was forwarded to America to show how little the waiting women of Europe are allowed to know about their loved ones.

The professor-corporal is Louis Cons, who was professor of French at Bryn Mawr when war was declared. He hurried to France and entered the army. His wife was with him.

Mrs. Cons is an American girl, remembered in Huntington as Miss Jeanette Curtis. Mrs. Cons won a fellowship at Swarthmore and went to Germany to study. There she met Louis Cons. Cons could not speak English, and his wife could not speak French. However, both could speak German and their courtship was carried on in a language foreign to both their native tongues. Later they came to America.

The letter from Cons to his wife which was copied and forwarded by Mrs. Cons follows:

"Can you imagine your corporal husband still all white with the chalk of the trenches, still smelling of the powder and the fever of the firing line, can you imagine him comfortably seated in the great hall (Salle d'Honneur) of a modern townhall, and writing these lines to you on paper of imposing size and on a Henry Fifty table? For my part it all seems to me a sort of Haroun-al-raschidian fantasy—and I can't get over it. Nevertheless for two days past and for two days more—oh brief royalty!—I am secretary of the military bureau in the large town or little city of V—where we are in the rest-cantonment before going back to the lines.

"My functions consist in taking my place in the said hall by the said table not far from an antique fireplace in which flames a good big fire, fragrant or resin, and in drawing up passes for the vine-growers who are going to their vine-yards,—for here we are in the country of the wine of the kings. It is the first town we have seen in this region which has not been bombarded, and we are astonished to see houses intact and streets not torn up by exploding shells! The inhabitants are hospitable, scarcely touched them. Nevertheless the enemy is not far away and the music of the cannon follows us faithfully.

"In the evening if you could go with me upon the little hill yonder you would wonder at the prodigious fireworks of the exploding shells from the big cannon or the signal rockets which go off like shooting stars and spread out on the horizon in blue flower-like flames.

"Certain aspects of this atrocious struggle are fairy-like, theatrical. When there is a bombardment our soldiers call it the Fourth of July. I believe that for many of them (especially among the young men of the active service) the war is a sort of celebration with lots of accidents, 'broken crockery' as they put it. If you knew how magnificently brave they are, these boys of twenty! With out patriotic exaggeration, or journalistic bombast, they are simply stunning. On the firing line, they are the ones who brave up the older men the homesick and the anxious fathers of families. It is touching beyond words to see and to listen to these youngsters with their round beardless, often childish faces. How many times during the long nights on guard, a couple of paces from the enemy, when we were watching side by side, I have drawn near one of these young heroes, wrapped in his coarse cloak, to hear him talk of his 'mama.' For it is always thus that their reflections end: 'If I should fall here, I should feel badly on account of mama.' Many alas, have already fallen during the terrible retreat from Belgium and especially during the first fights of the Marne when Jeffre's order was 'hold them'—and they have held them, the brave young rascals.

"Those who say that the French have degenerated have not passed a night at the advance-posts, as I have with these young soldiers of the active army.

"I see that my memories of the trenches are carrying me far away from the pretty little town, far from the Salle d'Honneur of the town hall, in which comfortably seated I am writing to you. The fact is that the trench haunts one constantly. For him who with slipped feet reads the paper in his home, the trench is a sort of ditch which served to shelter the soldiers. For him who knows it, and has lived in it, the trench is another thing. It is a sort of circle of hell, a tomb, but a hell and a tomb which come to have the charm of old acquaintance, the delight of risk and danger. It is a sort of card-table at which one wonders every minute whether he will draw the card of death or that of life.

"The whistling bullet, the passing shell, the ever threatening mine, the apprehension of an attack all make you feel that you are living dangerously, that, is, more strongly and more quickly. You learn and you mature there. There you learn patience Oh! how long are the nights on guard in winter from five in the evening until seven in the morning. There you learn not to be curious. If you raise your hand to see what Mr. German is doing, a nice little Bzz. makes you bow it humbly again.

"The trench is a school. You learn there simplicity and sobriety—your only light the sardine can with its melted fat and wick of a night-cap tassel; a shelter in which you can advance only by crawling and where you sleep upon straw which you have gone to get at the peril of your life in some bombarded farm. As protection from the rain you have a canvass tent cover, and for warmth you crowd against your neighbor. It is not always possible to have a fire, because in certain actions the german artillery takes the smoke for a target and shells the spot. But we have often had the luxury of a hearty-fire in our trenches. How well I understand worship of fire. The hands that we stretch toward the holy flames are indeed devout, adoring hands.

"And yet these moments of intimacy, of meager comfort are sad. At times all becomessilent. The thought, the silent regret of one of us takes possession of all our minds like an oppressive force. We think of our homes and of these within them. From time to time someone raises his eyes toward the 'ceiling,' that is toward the tree-trunks covered with earth which roof the shelter. This glance is easy to interpret: Suppose a shell were to come and all on that! Then it seems to us that the darkness is a little blacker and the cold more intense—a little shudder shakes us, and the feeling is past.

"Most terrible of all are the nights on guard at the advance posts, that is in front of the trench and as near the enemy as possible. Black nights when it rains torrents and when the sentries are motionless on their knees in the bare, slippery ground; when the corporal goes to post to relieve them must feel around for them in the obscurity—and everywhere on every side, the little Bzz! of the German bullets. I have never missed a single sentry. I am proud of it, for in the inky black nights that we have had in December many other corporals have been known not to find their sentries again. There is nothing to guide you in these fields of colse-dropped grass. Impossible to call out,—the slightest sound of your voice would cost you a volley. Those are the worst moments, when one is really afraid. The plain soldier stands guard for an hour. It is hard and it is long, but the corporal goes twelve or fourteen times during the night to relieve and post the sentries. Each time it is a little grip on which he risks his hide. I hasten to add that I have not often had to pass a night at the advance guard posts (to be exact four times.) But I should not wish them to be as numerous as Arabian nights.

"Speaking of nights, good or bad, just think of it! I slept last night and I shall sleep tonight and again tomorrow night on a real mattress, laid out on the floor of the Salle d'Honneur of the town hall, in the room where I work. A mattress! For the first time in four months! You will never know all the meaning contained in that single word: A mattress! My unfortunate comrades, who sleep in the straw and who have had a glimpse of this mattress (through the windows of the hall) are filled with envy. One of them told—this is history written—that I was sleeping on a four-posted bed in the Marriage Hall (Salle des Mariages.) Think of this perfidious refinement of imagination: Alas! There are more deaths than marriages now.

"Just imagine! In the towns of which I am speaking there is a barber, and a pharmacist and the church bells ring! There is no logical connection between a barber and a pharmacist and the bells of the church, but as a matter of fact, for months now we had never seen shops nor heard bells ring. It would seem, indeed, that barbers and apothecaries are high endowed with natural prudence, for in all the villages through which we have passed so far, they have gone away bag and baggage. And yet their ministrations would have been appreciated by the unhappy wounded and 'afflicted,' as my old Rabelais says.

"Back in the Trenches Once More." Just a line written on my knee seated on my heels in the muddy trench, while the Germansnapel are bursting close by. The green corduroy trousers that you sent me are splendid. I wish that I could bring them back after the war in decent condition, but I am afraid it is impossible. The war will last longer than one pair of corduroy trousers."

SMALLPOX IS FEARED NOW

Mexican Suffering With Disease Found at Brownsville

(By United Press.)

Brownsville, Texas, March 30.—Fear that a smallpox epidemic may add to the perils of the Villista and Carranzista fighting at Matamoras just across the border was felt here today following discovery that a wounded Mexican with the disease had been brought here. He was immediately sent back across the border.

Early indications today pointed to another delay in the main battle. Desultory fighting at outposts thus far have been the only hostile move since the Villista unsuccessfully attempted to attack the Carranzista garrison Saturday.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy

Some time ago I had an attack of grippa which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your Almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

VOTE IS HEAVY AS USUAL TODAY

Indications This Afternoon Were
That About Three-Fourths Poiled
Was in.

ELECTION DAY IS QUIET ONE

Few Challenges Are Made, But Women Are Active About Polls—
Fewer Votes on Books.

The third local option election ever held in Rushville proper passed off quietly today with less challenging and fewer indications that an election of such vast interest was being held than ever before. The casual observer would not know what was taking place unless he chanced to come up to a polling place.

Excitement and concern over the result was "in the air," but it was suppressed, and there was a general hesitancy making predictions. The "wet" and "dry" leaders, however, were free to forecast that it should go their way. Few persons were placing the majority either way over one hundred and many very careful men were guessing that the majority would be below fifty.

As has always been found to be the case, the big fifth precinct—the factory precinct—held the upper hand. The "wets" were claiming the precinct and by that means they hoped to carry the city, but the "drys" were not conceding it to them by any means. There was admitted to be a bare possibility, however, that the precinct could go "wet" and still the "drys" would win a majority.

This contention was supported by the fact that the precinct voted "dry" by 85 votes two years ago and still the "drys" won by 98 votes, a margin of 13. It was thought the precinct would be close either way. On the other hand, in 1911 when the city went "wet" by 56 votes, the fifth was "dry" 29 votes.

At one o'clock today approximately 1203 votes had been cast at all six precincts. The poll books showed a possible vote of 1550, leaving something near 350 votes to be cast this afternoon. There was every reason to believe almost a full vote would be cast because the weather was good and it has always been the case in a local option election because of the intense interest which centers in it.

The women were about the polls today in large numbers serving sandwiches and coffee free to the voters and urging men to cast their ballots for a "dry" Rushville.

According to computations made at one o'clock, the poll books showed a little less than a hundred fewer votes this year than two years ago. This could not be accounted for. In the election two years ago 1498 votes were cast, whereas this year only 1550 names, or in the neighborhood of that number, appear on the poll books. Two years ago the poll books listed about 1650 voters.

The novelty of the women being at the polls this year was not so great as it was two years ago when it was a new feature of a "wet" and "dry" election. The women today, however, were out in just as large numbers and were just as earnest in their efforts to make the city go "dry." They did not suffer so many inconveniences today as two years ago because then the weather was very severe and in some precincts tents were put up to keep out the rain and cold wind.

The absence of "wet" workers at the polls today was commented upon by many. The "wets," it was said, did not seem so active as in

ASK CONTRACTORS TO BE ENJOINED

Henry and Myrtle Conaway Would
Stop Work to be Done as Compromise on Forbes Road.

SAY THEY WOULD BE DAMAGED

Henry and Myrtle Conaway have filed injunction proceedings against Phil Wilk and Will Redman, doing business under the firm name of Wilk & Company, asking the court to prevent certain changes in the James Forbes road in Ripley township and were agreed upon in a compromise in a former suit involving the acceptance of the road by the county commissioners.

The plaintiffs allege that under the compromise the road contractors agree to cut four feet off a hill commonly known as "Conaway Hill" and to fill up a stretch of road 500 feet in length adjoining their premises. The plaintiffs allege that if the contractors are permitted to do this work their buildings and land will be greatly damaged and they ask that Wilk & Company be enjoined from doing the work. The plaintiffs are represented by Chauncey Duncan.

BOY WANTED OVER YEAR IS LOCATED

Ray Hamilton, Accused of Breaking
Into Grocery Store Here,
Found in Connersville.

FINISHES SENTENCE THERE

Ray Hamilton, wanted here for over a year, on a charge of breaking into a West Second street grocery, was located yesterday in Connersville by Sheriff Cavitt. The boy has been going under the name of Case and recently got into trouble in Connersville with some other boys for stealing chickens. It was through this that Sheriff Cavitt obtained a line on the boy. His sentence was up yesterday and Sheriff Cavitt went there after him. The officials there stated that they wanted Hamilton as a witness against the other boys and he will be held there until after tomorrow when he will be brought here to face the charge.

The other two boys connected with the robbery were Carl Jackson and another boy. The Jackson boy is out on a suspended sentence and the other boy is serving a term in the boys' school at Plainfield. Hamilton succeeded in eluding the officials and at first denied to Sheriff Cavitt that his name was Hamilton, but later confessed.

MORRIS GIVEN 1 TO 14 YEARS

Greensburg Youth's Sentence for Entering Mercer's House at Mil-
roy Suspended

IS ARRAIGNED HERE TODAY

Tells Judge Sparks He Was Intoxicated and Did Not Know That He Did It.

Clifford "Tansy" Morris, of Greensburg, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of entering a house to commit larceny before Judge Sparks this morning and was sentenced to from one to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville. Morris was arrested late yesterday in Greensburg, charged with breaking into the home of W. S. Mercer in Milroy.

It was a strange story Morris told Judge Sparks and the court was frank in telling the boy that he had his doubts as to the truth of it. The sentence was suspended by the court pending good behavior. Morris gave his age as 19. So unreasonable was his story to the court that Judge Sparks told him he would investigate for himself and if he found out that Morris lied he would send him to prison without waiting for the officials at Jeffersonville to take the action.

Morris stated to the court that he did not remember entering the Mercer home or any of the events following. He admitted to the court that he was intoxicated and did not remember a thing from the time he left Roxie Fishback at the home of Chester Whiteman, one mile west of Milroy. When asked where he obtained the liquor, Morris stated that he found it in a shoe box near the school house in Greensburg as he was leaving there Sunday evening.

This sounded so unreasonable that he was asked if he did not pay someone to put it in the shoe box and leave it there for him. Morris denied this. He stated that he saw the box was at the side of the road, that he got out and opened it and found the booze. The bottle contained one pint of whiskey.

Morris said that he went to the Whiteman home after the girl about three-thirty o'clock Sunday afternoon and that they drove to Greensburg. When asked what they did in Greensburg, stated that they "just monkeyed around." He denied being at the Annex hotel in Greensburg and that the girl was also intoxicated. He said he did not remember entering or leaving the Mercer home but told the court that he walked all night and when morning came found himself in St. Paul. From St. Paul he went to Greensburg, catching a freight train.

Morris told the court that he had been working in a pool room in Greensburg. The court told him that if he believed he could not keep out of trouble by associating with his present companions he had better drop them, for the prison officials would keep a close watch on him.

The attempted robbery was connected and the blame placed on Morris by some letters found in an overcoat left in the buggy, which was found in front of the Mercer home be burglar from the house. The after Mercer had chased the would-be robbers were addressed to Roy Layton. Layton operates a pool room in Greensburg and Morris has been employed by him. Layton loaned the overcoat to Morris Sunday.

The Red Men will meet in their wigwam at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Matters of importance will come before the Lodge.

The W. R. C. will not meet Wednesday as originally planned.

RECORDER HERE MADE NO ERROR

Collected "War" Tax on True Value
of Property Which Has Been Recorded in His Office.

MISTAKES HAVE BEEN MADE

Revenue Tax Collector Calls Attention to Error of Taxing Given
Consideration.

County Recorder Brooks has had no trouble from persons making real estate transfers regarding the placing of "war" tax stamps upon the documents. In some counties the recorders are "in bad" because the correct amount of stamps have not been placed on deeds where the consideration was placed at one dollar. The rule to be followed is that the recorder must find out the true consideration or the true value and have the required amount of stamps placed on the document.

Fifty cents worth of stamps are required for each $100 of value in the real estate transfers. In many instances the amount is placed at $1 and other considerations. In cases of this kind Recorder Brooks requires the person filing the deed to state the exact amount of the consideration or the value of the property.

In several of the surrounding counties the recorders have not found the true value or the true amount of the transaction in which $1 is given as the amount. The internal revenue office has informed these recorders that they will have to find out the true value of these transactions and in many cases the recorders will likely have to make up some of the difference out of their own pockets as there is not much chance of collecting all of it from the people who recorded the deeds.

The recorder here has been on the safe side all the time and has insisted that he be told the value of the real estate, and if he is not told the true value, the blame is not placed on him. The mistake on the part of the county recorders was brought about on account of a misunderstanding of the law regarding the "war" tax stamps.

The law provides that the recorder shall be personally responsible for the collector of the right amount of money and for this reason, Mr. Brooks has been very particular about collecting the "war" tax.

It was Carter's second offense and Mayor Behout let him have the additional penalty for this reason. The men were arraigned last night. An additional charge of carrying concealed weapons will likely be placed against Spurrier as soon as this sentence is served. A pair of knuckles were found in his possession when arrested.

URGES DEFENSE NOT TO WASTE TIME

Judge Anderson Seeks to Hasten
Election Conspiracy Trial— Defendants on Stand.

LOCAL ATTORNEY IN THE CASE

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—Judge A. B. Anderson in federal court today insisted that the defense in the Terre Haute election conspiracy corruption trial hasten its case, after Mayor Donn M. Roberts had consulted many times with Attorney A. O. Stanley, not "to waste so much time" talking to his client. George Ehrenardt, member of the Terre Haute board of works, and Dr. John E. Green, inspector of precinct A of the first ward, were the defendants who took the stand today.

Character witnesses for Ehrenardt and John Masselink testified that they bore good reputations. Fred McFall, on cross-examination, admitted he had heard a rumor that Ehrenardt had in some manner obtained $1,200 from his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Streeter, and after he had been forced to flee for Europe because of this his friends "fixed it for him."

John Kiplinger of Rushville appeared as attorney for William O'Donnell, saloon keeper defendant.

Mexican Situation Grows Increasingly Alarming Today With
New Development.

WASHINGTON IS ANXIOUS

Railroad Communication With Mexico City is Broken Off Again—
Lull in Fighting.

(By United Press.)
Washington, March 30.—The Mexican situation grew increasingly alarming today. Added to news that the Carranzistas seem certain to recapture Mexico city within a short time, information arrived that railroad communication with the capitol was broken off again.

Official Washington was most anxious over the Carranzistas' growing strength. For some weeks Villa has been counted on to clarify the situation by crushing the "first chief." In the past few days the "first chief" has severely repulsed his rival.

One of the latest developments, it leaked out today, was the reply sent by the Carranza to American representations, rippling with defiance. The details were not known, but it was evident that not only Washington government heads but foreign diplomats here were gravely concerned.

Border conditions were somewhat threatening at Matamoros but were much more so at Nuevo Laredo. General Frunston reported Villistas moving strongly on the latter place. The Carranza commander there announced he would fight. War department officials admitted field artillery might be ordered to Laredo, Texas to protect the property and lives of Americans in case the fighting became severe.

At Matamoros the lull does not promise to last long. Villa was believed to be delaying only while he brought up reinforcements to meet the enemy. It was reported he had 15 car loads of artillery on the way from Monterrey.

Pleasant Proofs of LEADERSHIP

WE find success a cheerful thing, pleasant to contemplate. This is the hour and day and year of Paige Leadership. In contemplation of it we feel only gratitude for the courage, brains and good sportsmanship of those who have competed with the Paige, splendidly though unsuccessfully. In proof of our claim of Paige Supremacy we have, we believe, only to point to a single, amazing and conclusive fact: To the best of our knowledge and belief, the Paige in actual sales from December to March has led all competitors in each and every one of the Automobile Shows. Paige cars in the astounding aggregate of one million dollars worth were sold at the New York and Chicago Shows alone. The Philadelphia, Detroit, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Baltimore Shows added another million to the amazing Paige sales.

The reason is fundamental, though the record is unique. The Automobile Shows have exhibited all American cars—alongside the Paige. The Automobile Shows have offered an open forum of paralleling comparison and intelligent, unbiased judgment. And that inevitable, popular verdict has brought victory, nation-wide supremacy, along with gratitude and well won content to the Paige. So, we call these Pleasant Proofs of Leadership and herein and hereby voice our very proper and very genuine appreciation to those discriminating judges—our fellow Americans.

FILES BRIEF IN HARVESTER CASE

ONE DISTINCTION IS MADE

(By United Press.) Washington, March 29.—Attorney General Gregory's brief in the Harvester trust case, awaited with tremendous interest because it was expected to define the present administration's working policy toward all combinations, was filed in supreme court today.

Probably the brief's most striking feature is the distinction it makes between "growth from within" and "growth through combination." In effect, Attorney General Gregory says that practically no limitation can be placed on an industrial institution's growth from within itself for that is a proper result of competition. It is reiterated that competition must be the law of trade.

DEATH TOLL IS PLACED AT 138

German Submarines Cause Heavy Loss of Life by Sinking Falaba and Aquila.

FIVE MINUTES TO LEAVE BOAT

In Both Cases Vessels Try to Escape Under—Sea Wasps But Are Run Down.

London, March 30.—Upward of 138 lives were lost in the sinking by German submarines of the African liner Falaba and the British steamer Aquila bound from Liverpool for Lisbon. The Falaba was torpedoed in St. George's Channel.

An official list supplied at the offices of the Elder Dempster Steamship Company shows that so far as is known at present fifty-two first-class passengers thirty-four second-class passengers and forty-nine of the crew of the Falaba, were saved.

Four of the passengers and four of the crew are reported killed and sixty-one passengers and forty-three of the crew are missing.

The Aquila had a crew of forty-two and three passengers, and of these twenty-three of the crew and all the passengers were lost.

In both cases on sighting the submarine the captain tried to escape by putting on all speed possible, but the underwater craft overtook the steamers, showing that Germany now has some of its most modern submarines engaged in the blockade operations against England.

The captain of the Falaba, who was one of those lost, was given five minutes to get his passengers and crew into the boats, but, according to the survivors before this was possible a torpedo was fired, striking the engine room and causing a terrible explosion. Many persons were killed and the steamer sank in ten minutes.

Trawlers which happened to be in the vicinity rescued most of those who were saved; others got away in the boats which were ready for launching and which were quickly overhauled when the order was given to abandon the ship.

Those who were still on the steamer when the explosion occurred were thrown into the sea, and it took the fishermen an hour or more to pick up the persons in the water who managed to keep themselves afloat.

The Aquila was attacked off the Pembroke-shire coast. The submarine which in this case was U-28, opened fire with her gun, shells from which killed a woman passenger, the chief engineer and two of her crew. Even after the crew had commenced to lower the boats, according to the story of the survivors, the Germans kept up their fire and some of the boats were riddled with bullets.

The captain of the trawler Ottilie, whom the commander of the submarine told of the sinking of the Aquila went to the rescue and picked up three boats containing nineteen of the crew. The fourth boat, which contained the other members of the crew could not be found, and it is presumed that she foundered. On their arrival at Fishguard several of the crew wore bandages, having been wounded by the fire of the submarine.

Another Dutch steamer, the Amstel, of 495 tons, has been blown up by a mine off Flamborough Head.

Acts of Recent Legislature Are Explained by Expert, John A. Lapp

(This is the fourteenth of a series of articles explaining the new state laws, written for the United Press by John A. Lapp, director of the bureau of legislative information. Editor.)

Animal Diseases

The subject of animal diseases and their control received considerable attention at the recent session. This was due to the very great losses which have been suffered during the last few years from hog cholera, foot and mouth disease and other contagious animal diseases. Many bills were introduced concerning hog cholera and the testing and approval of serums for its prevention and for the control of other diseases.

Three laws were passed each of considerable importance. The first provides for the payment of damages caused by the outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in 1914. The state's share in this expense is approximately $125,000. The federal government paid an equal amount. No funds were available at the time of the epidemic and the state was required to assume the obligation. The state is now meeting its part of the damages out of the appropriation of $125,000. Payments are made upon the order of the government when certificates of appraisement made by the federal officers are presented to him by the state veterinarian.

The second law of great significance was the authorizing the state veterinarian to establish rules and regulations concerning the movement and transportation of animals, feed, that may carry disease and the blankets, sacks or other material movement of people to and from premises where diseases may exist and providing for the disinfection of premises or materials coming from any place where the contagious disease of domestic animals exists.

The state veterinarian is required to public rules and regulations and to post the same on the premises and also in the vicinity where the foot and mouth disease exists and publish the same in one or more newspapers. A copy is also filed with the county auditor who must publish the same in one or more newspapers in the county. Animals may be moved from an infected district only when approved by the state veterinarian by any animals moved are at all times under the control of the state veterinarian.

It is made unlawful for any person to offer any animals for sale or trade for food purposes showing physical symptoms of disease unless it has been inspected and passed by the state veterinarian or his assistant or by the federal inspectors. The state veterinarian is given the power to slaughter all domestic animals that have foot and mouth disease or glanders and destroy any feed or other materials that may distribute the contagion and the owners shall be reimbursed at a fair cash value to be determined by appraisement at this time.

To aid the state veterinarian the board of county commissioners of the county, after an appropriation has been made by the county council may appoint for a period designated by them a county veterinarian who must be a graduate of a veterinary college and licensed to practice veterinary medicine in the county. The county veterinarian is required to report outbreaks of disease and to make investigations of disease when requested by the state veterinarian. He receives five dollars a day for each day actually engaged in work.

A special fund of $50,000 per year is laid aside by the law as an emergency fund to be expended upon the order of the governor in a payment for slaughtered animals. The law makes a penalty of $25.00 to $250.00 or imprisonment for not more than sixty days or both fine and imprisonment for any person who violates the law or who violates any rules or regulations made in carrying it out.

The third law relates to hog cholera. It amends the act passed in 1913 so as to make more specific the provisions relating to infected hogs running at large or in highways or adjoining fields or other owners. It is made unlawful for any owner of hogs affected with hog cholera to allow them to run at large on public highway or in any fields or another or to expose other swine to the disease by allowing infected hogs to run in fields adjoining others owners in which hogs are confined or to have access to running water that may flow through other fields where swine are confined. Every owner is required to provide for the safe and proper confinement of hogs affected with hog cholera.

Hoosier History In Tabloid

(Prepared by the United Press from records in the State Library.)

Between 1893 and 1895 the state treasurer of Indiana acted as superintendent of schools. In 1891 a new constitution was adopted, and it provided for a state superintendent of public instruction. The state board of education also saw its birth. In 1873 the office of the county superintendent was created. He with one trustee of each township and the president of the school trustees of each town and city of the county compose the county board of education.

"Indiana has the unquestioned honor of being the first state in the union to incorporate the township unit into her education code."

Education in Indiana has made such rapid progress under the new system provided by the law of 1849 and the constitution of 1851 that today the illiteracy of the population between the ages of 10 and 20 is only six-tenths per cent and our state ranks among the first in the union as to schools.

Records in State Library.)

Indiana's public school system tottered along without adequate provision by law until 1849, when the legislature authorized a tax for the support of free schools. It required several years on the part of untiring teachers to bring a majority of the people to vote for this measure because the idea had sprung up that compulsory education was not in harmony with the principles of free and independent government. Also, many people thought that state schools would leave parents no choice in the education of their children. Up to that time the main method had been to establish seminaries, more or less supported by private enterprise. So great was the opposition to free schools that one member of the legislature exclaimed: "When I die I want my epitaph written, there lies an enemy to free schools."

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE OPENS

Opening Gun in 1915 Baseball Season is Fired When Minor League Gets Under Way

HOT STOVE LEAGUE DISBANDS

Usual Ceremonies Including Band Concerts and Parades Preceded Games—Many Predictions

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Mar. 30.—They're off in the Pacific Coast League. The opening gun in the 1915 baseball season was fired today in three of the larger cities west of the Rockies when the Coast League, one of the larger minor league organizations, got under way. San Francisco, Los Angeles and Salt Lake were the cities where Hot Stove Leagues were disbanded and the fans came into their own.

Here's the way they lined up; Oakland at San Francisco; Portland at Los Angeles; Vernon at Salt Lake. The usual ceremonies, including brass bands, parades and speeches, preceded the games. And then the fans and fanettes settled down, so far as the Pacific Coast is concerned, to eight months of baseball.

The same old brand of predictions were voiced by the managers of the several clubs.

"Every man on my team is a champion," said "Happy" Hogan, manager of the Vernon Tigers, "and I can't see how they can keep us from annexing the pennant."

The five other managers in the league were to the front with similar statements, but unbiased experts have declared the San Francisco club to be the greatest aggregation of players ever assembled in a minor league. This team was constructed by Harry Wolverton, former manager of the New York Highlanders. Portland and Los Angeles also loom up as contenders.

Several changes have occurred in the Pacific Coast League since the close of the 1914 season. Cal Ewing and Frank Ish, two of the best known baseball men in the country, disposed of their holdings in the San Francisco club to Henry Berry, formerly owner of the Los Angeles club to John Powers, son of Alderman Powers of Chicago. After several disastrous seasons, the Sacramento franchise was sold to Salt Lake, one of the best baseball cities in the west. Cliff Blankenship is manager of the "Mormon" team.

BOAT BUILDERS ARE VERY ACTIVE

Great Season is Predicted From Commercial and Social Standpoint in New York City.

RIVER EXCURSIONS TO START

New Sight For Tourist Will be Large

Number of Foreign Ships Anchored Here.

BY CARLTON TEN EYCK.

(Written for United Press.)

New York, March 30.—"Sail, ho!" and also the new twentieth century "Gasoline, ho!" are the hails of sea, bay and river for which ears of thousands are impatiently waiting today. With the advent of spring the call of the water is being answered by sailing and boating enthusiasts of nearby waters and also the whole North Atlantic seaboard.

Activities in boat yards, basins, rivers and creek show preparations for summer cruiser, racing, coasting service, excursion trips and houseboat parties. The whole water front is putting on its usual spring garb. Even the river pirates are evincing the toxin of spring with renewed raids, despite the espionage of the harbor police.

Wherever a boat was moored or drawn ashore last fall, there is not a bustle of action. New sails are being bent, new rigging and engines installed, fresh paint splattered and woodwork and hulls caulked, painted and varnished.

The fishing fleets, commercial and for amateur nurduds, are actively engaged in fitting out. The dollar-a-Sunday fishing trips will soon be in full blast. Sunday excursion boats, up the Hudson, on the Sound and out to sea are on the brink of public solicitation.

This is going to be a gasoline year, according to the outlook today. Motor boat builders are overwhelmed with work finishing orders placed last year. Some speedy races on the Hudson, are already scheduled in the near future. The bon ton boat houses there and yacht clubs are also in the throes of seasonal preparation. Restaurants and road houses which seek the water patronage are being refurbished for another season. College crews are taking the water in their shells.

Excursion boats between here and Albany, Boston, Providence Atlantic City and the ocean resorts are planning early desumption of their regular summer schedules.

A new sight for tourists which promise much business for boatmen and ferrists this summer from tourists is the fleet of foreign ships interned near here, mostly at Hoboken. While as visitor, except the favored few with east-iron credentials, are denied a foot abroad the tied-up boats, they are a mecca of tourist pilgrimage nevertheless. The Leviathan Vaterland is the "star" attraction. If the war holds out in Europe river boatmen are looking forward to a prosperous season.

An interesting development of the war, too, is the prospect of a summer excursion rate war. Stagnation and lying up of both passenger and freight shipping by the war has disrupted normal traffic conditions. Owners of some of the ocean going craft are turning their attention to the coastwise trade, while the coasters, meeting new competition, are reported to be threatening invasion of the excursion field.

Incidentally "dollar" excursions to Atlantic City are already being advertised. Altogether it looks like a most enjoyable and maybe cheaper summer for devotees of the water.

Railroad station officials here are wondering if a "stork room" must be the latest convenience to be given the traveling public. A recent "epidemic" of births on trains entering the city, and even in the big terminals themselves, has brought up the question of providing for the hasty newcomers. Several mothers have given birth recently to children on trains a few miles from the city. Within the last fortnight two children were ushered into the world in vast marble waiting rooms, soon after their mothers arrived in the stations. A special roof for such cases lions. A special room to care for such cases is said to be under consideration by officials of one of the largest terminals here.

A "smoke squad" in New York's most prideful addition to its fire department and all New York is watching its baptism of fire. The squad consists of a company especially equipped to fight fire where unusually dense smoke or fumes prevail. They are equipped with oxygen helmets and air-conveying contrivances, with pulmotors for revival of victims. The company is located in the more congested lower section of the city, is composed of veteran fire fighters and is given the post of honor at the hardest fire with the doubtful privilege of being the first to enter burning buildings after the salvage squads.

DICK WILSON HAS GOOD PROSPECTS

Rushville Trainer Will Move to State Fair Grounds With String in Few Weeks.

HORSES IN HIS STABLE

The sport writer on the Indianapolis Star yesterday said in his column about prospects of Indiana stables since the training season is about to open:

The Rushville train, Dick Wilson, is busy adding new ones to the list that he will train at the Indiana State Fair Grounds this spring, one of the best of the recent additions being the trotter, Star Tramp III, 2:18, by The Tramp, that a patron of Wilson's bid off at the recent Cambridge City sale. Star Tramp was trained last year by Harry Jones at Rushville and worked three different miles around 2:10 and Jones says that he is confident that he will trot in 2:08 or better this season. He was not trained in his 4-year-old form, but as a 3-year-old, displayed plenty of class in his races over the half-mile track, where he raced to his mark. Black Ball, 2:12, a pacer, by The Patchen Boy III, 2:10, owned at Portland, Ind., is to become a member of the Wilson stable, and comes pretty highly recommended. He was raced a few times last year over the half-mile tracks and paced to his record in a winning race over the Fort Wayne half-mile track. He is an oily-going pacer, has a lot of the whizz that is so necessary in getting the long end of the purses, and seems to have all of the qualifications of a classy pacer. Wilson will move to the local track within a couple of weeks.

ACTRESS GIVEN HONORS

Miss Christine Norman Complimented by Dramatic Critic.

Hector Fuller, dramatic critic of the Indianapolis Star, gives Miss Christine Norman, niece of Mrs. Will E. Havens of this city, credit for the honors in the premiere of Oliver Morosco's production, "The Lady We Love" which opened for a week's run at the Murat theater in Indianapolis last night. Miss Norman has visited here often. Mr. Fuller says: The acting honors of the piece belong by right to Miss Christine Norman as Schweister. She is an artist of great natural ability and force of character, and her work is full of wholesomeness, so that what she does impresses itself as quite genuine, and easy to believe, even if the author has put in some rather impossible situations.

BIG-EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

ROHE WILL STICK WITH RUSHVILLE

Manager Davidson Denies Report That Star Third Sacker Will Not Play With Locals.

George Rohe, former Chicago White Sox player, will play third base for Rushville this season despite all reports to the contrary. Word was received this morning from Manager Davidson that Rohe would positively play with Rushville. The story got spread around Sunday because of a piece in the Enquirer that he would not play here. The story was that he would play with Weihe's All-Pros.

According to Manager Davidson Rohe will play with the All-Pros on April 3 and 4 and on April 7 and 8 when that club plays the Pittsburgh Federals. They have advertised him for a drawing card and after these games he will play with Rushville. Rushville's first game will be April 11 at Hamilton where the team will take on the Krebs.

SHORTAGE OF TWINE FEARED

Dealers Call Farmers Attention to Fact They Had Better Get it
While They Can.

CAUSE FOR THE LACK OF IT

Raw Material All Comes From Mexico and Carranza Army Causes
Shipments to Cease.

Dealers are calling the attention of farmers to the fact that they had better get in their supply of binder twine if they do not care to come up short during the harvest. Metropolitan newspapers have pointed out in editorials that it is doubtful if the country at large understands the seriousness of the shortage of binder twine.

Only last Friday the Indianapolis News, in an editorial, called attention to the condition. The United States department of agriculture reports that between January 1 and

February 28, 67,489 bales, of 350 pounds each, were brought in as compared with 156,659 bales in the same period last year and 111,654 bales in 1913. It is seen the falling off is immense.

A large portion of the raw material which enters into the manufacture of this important article comes from Yucatan state, Mexico. The interference of the Carranza army has caused shipments of sisal to be discontinued, and the situation is so grave as to make imminent the closing of many large manufacturing plants in the United States, including those of the International Harvester Company. The state department for several months has realized the dangerous possibilities, and has brought diplomatic pressure to bear on the Carranza leaders. Late dispatches indicate that the trouble has been partly overcome. However, it is possible that this year's grain harvest in the United States will be seriously affected.

In normal years about 200,000,000 pounds of binder twine are required in harvesting the grain, corn and flax crops. From two-thirds to three-fourths of this is made from sisal fiber, practically all of which is produced in Yucatan, and exported from Progreso. In 1912 a shortage was threatened, and the price rose from 7 to 12 cents a pound. Then it was only a question of price. Now American manufacturers are willing to pay practically any price. It is said that fifty-one decrees relative to sisal have been issued by various governments in Yucatan, and that lately three export duties have been levied. The continued political disturbances in Mexico caused shortage in fiber, but conditions now are much more serious. High prices will be paid if shipments are permitted.

Weeks ago it was represented to the state department that the year's crop would be endangered unless heavy shipments of sisal continued to April 1. Instead of increases there have been decreases. The stock in storage is extremely low. It is said that prices for future contracts must take into consideration the taxes imposed in Yucatan. The government expects to send a warship to Progreso with sufficient gold to pay for such sisal stocks as are ready for shipment, this amount to be supplied, of course, by American manufacturing plants. The American government is interested in the sisal shortage because of the danger to crops. Unless there is plenty of binder twine, some harvesting may have to be done by hand, and this undoubtedly would cut down the yield, which, it is expected, will be the greatest in the history of the country.

MILITARY CAMPS ARE THROWN OPEN

Germany Willing American Commission Shall Investigate Conditions There.

SAID ENGLAND ACCEPTED

Berlin, (Via The Hague.) March 30.—Germany has agreed to throw open her military camps for an inspection by an American commission. United States Ambassador Gerard made this announcement today. England is understood to have accepted the same offer and the trips of investigation are to begin immediately upon the arrival of the commission in Europe.

Ten Americans will constitute the commission. They will visit 47 prison camps in Germany and every effort will be made by the German authorities to see that their probe of the conditions of the military prisons is free and unhampered.

LITTLE PROGRESS IS MADE

Days Before Divers Can Search For Submarine Crew.

(By United Press.)

Honolulu, March 30.—Although five days have elapsed since the submarine F-4 plunged to her grave on the coral rocks with her crew of 21, little progress of raising the ill-fated vessel has been made. With all hope of saving lives abandoned, Admiral Moore admitted today that it might be several days before the submarine can be raised even far enough to permit search by divers for the bodies of the victims.

Washington, March 29.—Chairman Walsh incorporated in the records Col. Roosevelt's reply to a request that Roosevelt appear before the senate ship lobby investigating committee.

In one paragraph Col. Roosevelt says:

"My statement was literally and exactly correct. President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo have pushed the ship purchase bill to the utmost of their ability. . . . Their action was in the interests of foreign corporations owning the interned ships. If it had not been the ships would have been exempted from the operations of the act.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

A few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur brings back its vigor, color, gloss and thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not awful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

SHIPPERS SIDE IS PRESENTED

Oppose Rate Increase Before Interstate Commerce Commissioner
Daniels in Chicago

CONTRAST TO EASTERN LINES

Opening Statement Shows Line on Which Defense Will be Made.
Thorne Makes Address

(By United Press.)

Chicago, March 30.—Clifford Thorne, railroad commissioner of Iowa and president of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, today opened the evidence on behalf of the shippers and the public interests which he represents at the Western rate hearing before Interstate Commerce Commissioner Daniels.

In part he said: "During the past four weeks this Commission has heard the testimony offered by the officials of western railroads, in favor of an increase in their transportation charges, aggregating millions of dollars annually.

"We will now present to you the evidence on behalf of the producers, shippers, and consumers of this western part of the nation.

"Our object is not to make a general onslaught upon the credit of these western railroads. The result of our efforts will be rather to help to establish the soundness and strength of their credit.

"As indicating conditions in the territory involved only the testimony of the Presidents of the Chicago Great Western Railroad, the Missouri Pacific Railway, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railway was introduced. Nothing further need be said. This commission and the public knows whether they represented typical lines or weakling. This procedure is in marked contrast to that pursued by the Eastern Railroads, where the chief executives of the representative lines testified.

"We will show you that three-fourths of the traffic in this territory is being handled by companies that are earning above all operating expenses, and all interest on bonds and debt, from six to sixteen percent on all of their capital stock outstanding in the hands of the public.

"Heretofore the railroads have been far better equipped than the shippers in cases involving rates; but in the present case the Commissioners of sixteen western states, in compliance with state laws, have secured the services of an eminent corps of expert accountants and statisticians, and are looking after the interests of the public.

"Joined with the commissions are the representatives of upwards of 300,000 manufacturers, merchants, grain dealers, live stock dealers, and other producers and consumers, scattered throughout the territory.

"We will demonstrate to you some mistakes in the figures offered by the railroads. We do not call them misrepresentations for all of us are liable to err at times. It is not necessary for us to parade glaring, sensational incidents of high finance or questionable acts. It is a cold blooded business proposition. The famous Gould printing press scandal, where they made Erie stock over night, and incident that will probably be famous for all time, only involved some $23,000,000. The present movement for increased freight, and passenger rates involves several times that sum of money, not just at one time, but

Prevent Falling Hair and End Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.

every year, now and in the future, for this and future generations to pay.

"The impression has been given that railroads have not been able to maintain their properties during recent years; that they have been compelled to retrench so severely that the public has been injured, as well as the railroad properties. This is true as to some railroads, but we will show you it is absolutely untrue as to western railroads as a whole. As in all business, there are temporary periods of depression when the railroads as a whole, including both the strong and the weak lines, are compelled to retrench in their expenses for a time. It will be conclusively proven to you that these western carriers expended in 1914 in maintaining their properties $2,800 per mile of line, which was greater than in any other year in their history.

"It will be proved that the railroads in western territory as a whole have actually expended in maintaining their properties during the past five years an average of $50,000,000 a year more than for any preceding five-year period since the first railroad was built in this territory.

"It will be shown to you that the decline in the percentage of operating income on property investment, upon which the carriers are relying so strongly, results from a change in the system of accounting, and not from any operating condition.

"During the year 1914, as all people know, there was a world wide business depression. In the exhibits that will be offered, it will be shown that in 1913 the net revenues of the railroads in western territory as a whole, above all operating expenses, amounted to $420,000,000, being the largest, with only one exception—1910—since the first track was laid west of the Mississippi river.

DON'T USE SOAP ON YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Gaphic Description of Life in the Trenches By a College Professor

(By United Press.)

Huntington, Ind., Mar. 30.—A description of life in the trenches of the French army, as experienced and written by a polished college professor or serving as a corporal, has come to Mrs. J. R. Malott of Huntington in the form of a letter written by the Frenchman to his American wife in Paris. The letter was forwarded to America to show how little the waiting women of Europe are allowed to know about their loved ones.

The professor-corporal is Louis Cons, who was professor of French at Bryn Mawr when war was declared. He hurried to France and entered the army. His wife was with him.

Mrs. Cons is an American girl, remembered in Huntington as Miss Jeanette Curtis. Mrs. Cons won a fellowship at Swarthmore and went to Germany to study. There she met Louis Cons. Cons could not speak English, and his wife could not speak French. However, both could speak German and their courtship was carried on in a language foreign to both their native tongues. Later they came to America.

The letter from Cons to his wife which was copied and forwarded by Mrs. Cons follows:

"Can you imagine your corporal husband still all white with the chalk of the trenches, still smelling of the powder and the fever of the firing line, can you imagine him comfortably seated in the great hall (Salle d'Honneur) of a modern townhall, and writing these lines to you on paper of imposing size and on a Henry Fifty table? For my part it all seems to me a sort of Haroun-al-raschidian fantasy—and I can't get over it. Nevertheless for two days past and for two days more—oh brief royalty!—I am secretary of the military bureau in the large town or little city of V—where we are in the rest-cantonment before going back to the lines.

"My functions consist in taking my place in the said hall by the said table not far from an antique fireplace in which flames a good big fire, fragrant or resin, and in drawing up passes for the vine-growers who are going to their vine-yards—for here we are in the country of the wine of the kings. It is the first town we have seen in this region which has not been bombarded, and we are astonished to see houses intact and streets not torn up by exploding shells! The inhabitants are hospitable, scarcely touched. Nevertheless the enemy is not far away and the music of the cannon follows us faithfully.

"In the evening if you could go with me upon the little hill yonder you would wonder at the prodigious fireworks of the exploding shells from the big cannon or the signal rockets which go off like shooting stars and spread out on the horizon in blue flower-like flames.

"Certain aspects of this atrocious struggle are fairly like, theatrical. When there is a bombardment our soldiers call it the Fourth of July. I believe that for many of them (especially among the young men of the active service) the war is a sort of celebration with lots of accidents, 'broken crockery' as they put it. If you knew how magnificently brave they are, these boys of twenty! With out patriotic exaggeration, or journalistic bombast, they are simply stunning. On the firing line, they are the ones who brave up the older men the homesick and the anxious fathers of families. It is touching beyond words to see and to listen to these youngsters with their round beardless, often childish faces. How many times during the long nights on guard, a couple of paces from the enemy, when we were watching side by side, I have drawn near one of these young heroes, wrapped in his coarse cloak, to hear him talk of his 'mama.' For it is always thus that their reflections end: 'If I should fall here, I should feel badly on account of mama.' Many alas, have already fallen during the terrible retreat from Belgium and especially during the first fights of the Marne when Jeffrey's order was 'hold them'—and they have held them, the brave young rascals.

"Those who say that the French have degenerated have not passed a night at the advance posts, as I have with these young soldiers of the active army.

"I see that my memories of the trenches are carrying me far away from the pretty little town, far from the Salle d'Honneur of the town hall, in which comfortably seated I am writing to you. The fact is that the trench haunts one constantly. For him who with slippered feet reads the paper in his home, the trench is a sort of ditch which served to shelter the soldiers. For him who knows it, and has lived in it, the trench is another thing. It is a sort of circle of hell, a tomb, but a hell and a tomb which come to have the charm of old acquaintance, the delight of risk and danger. It is a sort of comfortable at which one wanders every minute whether he will draw the card of death or that of life.

"The whistling bullet, the passing shell, the ever threatening mine, the apprehension of an attack all make you feel that you are living dangerously, that is, more strongly and more quickly. You learn and you mature there. There you learn patience. Oh! how long are the nights on guard in winter from five in the evening until seven in the morning. There you learn not to be curious. If you raise your hand to see what Mr. German is doing, a nice little Bzz. makes you bow it humbly again.

"The trench is a school. You learn there simplicity and sobriety—your only light the sardine can with its melted fat and wick of a night-cup tassel; a shelter in which you can advance only by crawling and where you sleep upon straw which you have gone to get at the peril of your life in some bombarded farm. As protection from the rain you have a canvas tent cover, and for warmth you crowd against your neighbor. It is not always possible to have a fire, because in certain actions the German artillery takes the smoke for a target and shells the spot. But we have often had the luxury of a hearty fire in our trenches. How well I understand worship of fire. The hands that we stretch toward the holy flames are indeed devout, adoring hands.

"And yet these moments of intimacy, of meager comfort are sad. At times all becomes silent. The thought, the silent regret of one of us takes possession of all our minds like an oppressive force. We think of our homes and of these within them. From time to time someone raises his eyes toward the 'ceiling,' that is toward the tree-trunks covered with earth which roof the shelter. This glance is easy to interpret: Suppose a shell were to come and all on that! Then it seems to us that the darkness is a little blacker and the cold more intense—a little shudder shakes us, and the feeling is past.

"Most terrible of all are the nights on guard at the advance posts, that is in front of the trench and as near the enemy as possible. Black nights when it rains torrents and when the sentries are motionless on their knees in the bare, slippery ground; when the corporal goes to post to relieve them must feel around for them in the obscurity—and everywhere on every side, the little Bzz! of the German bullets. I have never missed a single sentry. I am proud of it, for in the inky black nights that we have had in December many other corporals have been known not to find their sentries again. There is nothing to guide you in these fields of colse-dropped grass. Impossible to call out,—the slightest sound of your voice would cost you a volley. Those are the worst moments, when one is really afraid. The plain soldier stands guard for an hour. It is hard and it is long, but the corporal goes twelve or fourteen times during the night to relieve and post the sentries. Each time it is a little grip on which he risks his hide. I hasten to add that I have not often had to pass a night at the advance guard posts (to be exact four times.) But I should not wish them to be as numerous as Arabian nights.

"Speaking of nights, good or bad, just think of it! I slept last night and I shall sleep tonight and again tomorrow night on a real mattress, laid out on the floor of the Salle d'Honneur of the town hall, in the room where I work. A mattress! For the first time in four months! You will never know all the meaning contained in that single word: A mattress! My unfortunate comrades, who sleep in the straw and who have had a glimpse of this mattress (through the windows of the hall) are filled with envy. One of them told—this is history written—that I was sleeping on a four-posted bed in the Marriage Hall (Salle des Mariages.) Think of this perfidious refinement of imagination: Alas! There are more deaths than marriages now.

"Just imagine! In the towns of which I am speaking there is a barber, and a pharmacist and the church bells ring! There is no logical connection between a barber and a pharmacist and the bells of the church, but as a matter of fact, for months now we had never seen shops nor heard bells ring. It would seem, indeed, that barbers and apothecaries are high endowed with natural prudence, for in all the villages through which we have passed so far, they have gone away bag and baggage. And yet their ministrations would have been appreciated by the unhappy wounded and 'afflicted,' as my old Rabelais says.

"Back in the Trenches Once More." Just a line written on my knee seated on my heels in the muddy trench, while the German shrapnel are bursting close by. The green corduroy trousers that you sent me are splendid. I wish that I could bring them back after the war in decent condition, but I am afraid it is impossible. The war will last longer than one pair of corduroy trousers."

SMALLPOX IS FEARED NOW

Mexican Suffering With Disease Found at Brownsville

(By United Press.)

Brownsville, Texas, March 30.—Fear that a smallpox epidemic may add to the perils of the Villista and Carranzista fighting at Matamoros just across the border was felt here today following discovery that a wounded Mexican with the disease had been brought here. He was immediately sent back across the border.

Early indications today pointed to another delay in the main battle. Desultory fighting at outposts thus far have been the only hostile move since the Villista unsuccessfully attempted to attack the Carranzista garrison Saturday.

RUSSIANS REPULSED.

Constantinople, (Via Amsterdam), March 30.—Large bodies of Russian cossacks have been repulsed with heavy losses by the Turks operating north of Olti in the Russian Caucasus, it was announced officially today.

Doctors Said He Had Dropsy

Some time ago I had an attack of grippe which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy. I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your Almanacs, I decided to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial and after taking several bottles was able to resume my work again. I cannot say too much in praise of your Swamp-Root as the results in my case were truly wonderful.

Yours very truly

Some Oriental Rugs are worth their weight in gold as works of art. But most practical folks put their gold dollars in the bank and save on their floors.

WHITTALL RUGS

ARE JUST AS PRACTICAL AS THEY ARE BEAUTIFUL AND JUST AS DURABLE AS THEY ARE INEXPENSIVE.

Can You Beat It?

Thousands of people have walked over this Whittall Rug and it isn't worn out yet.

Last Wednesday morning we placed on the sidewalk in front of our store a 9 x 12 Whittall Anglo Persian Rug which extends full distance across the sidewalk—no one passing in front of our store can keep from walking over it. It has been out every morning by seven-fifteen and has never been taken in before, ten P. M. In Thursday morning's rain and Friday morning's snow this rug was left on the walk and hundreds of people walked over it. With the exception of being soiled it is today as good as new. Examine it yourself, it is still there and

Will be There All This Week

Which in all will be eleven days including two Saturday's, Spring Opening days at all the Millinery Stores and our own Spring Opening which was the greatest crowd that ever visited this store in a single day.

The Sidewalk Demonstration has been an Exclusive Whittall Feature for Years

Cases have been known where it has been imitated, but the results were so obscure they were seldom made public. Three or four days, ten hours a day or forty hours in all is no test for any rug regardless of price or value. IMITATION IS THE SINCEREST FLATTERY. One might as well test glass with a hammer as to test a rug on the sidewalk for eleven busy days. This is where the weak must fall by the wayside and where WHITTALL QUALITY REIGNS SUPREME.
